

When misguided compassion will lead to our destruction

The spirit that exists in our society today, a spirit which is often referred to as the 'do-gooder' spirit, one that is particularly prevalent in higher education facilities (universities ect.) , in many government departments, especially in the Dep. of Education as well as in most of the media and in the political establishment of the 'socialist left' draws its strength and ideas from modern Humanism. The 'humanist model of society' is upheld as the ideal in many of the minds of today's 'progressive' thinkers as well as in many 'liberal' churches (in particular the Anglican and the Lutheran church). Ironically much of the roots of this ideology is actually found in the Christian heritage of the western nations itself.

As much as humanism, socialism and liberal Christianity is at war with Christianity itself, the humanist spirit has given birth to a completely misguided form of compassion. But it is still an expression of compassion rooted in the Christian heritage of the nation's past. Such a spirit could have never been born in places like India where Hinduism is deeply rooted in the teachings of Karma which has effectively destroyed every form of human compassion. It could have never been born in Arabia which has followed the teachings of Islam (a religion which talks about mercy but lacks a practical role model and completely contradicts any real expression of mercy and love. Islam in essence is based on a fatalistic surrender to the will of Allah and knows only pay-back and revenge)

Christianity is permeated with expressions of mercy and love (both verbal and visible through the words and deeds of Jesus himself)
Humanism has hung on to some of that without excepting its actual source. It likes the concepts of mercy but it completely rejected its author.
But mercy taken out of context can actually become merciless!
Such mercy will eventually result in lawlessness and that will result in eventual chaos.

There was a 'humanistic' farmer in South Africa. He was upheld as the 'shining example' of a man we should follow. In a kind humanistic gesture he reached out to a number of refugees from neighboring African countries. He did not want to see his fellow human beings suffer and so he decided to open his home (his farm) to them. When they arrived at his doorstep he offered them food, shelter and security.
No wonder he was labeled a 'hero' in the local media.
Having been a true 'humanist' at heart he opened his door and he invited them in.
A year later his humanist dreams had all collapsed and all that was left was a face full of tears. 1 year later his farm was destroyed (it was smashed to pieces by jealous African refugees who resented all his material wealth), his wife had been raped by some of them and his life was in ruins.

But no paper wanted to share that 2nd. part of his story.
He ended up in total dissolution and lost much of what he had worked for in life.

Many western politicians, most of our media, even many church leaders are exactly like this kind but ignorant farmer.

They believe that 'good-will' can ultimately conquer and change the attitudes, the behavior and even the mindsets of those 'people in need', of those refugees and asylum seekers which had arrived at our doorstep. They still believe that we can create a better society where all can prosper and where we can all live together in peace.

But they completely fail to understand (and refuse to acknowledge) that this spirit has left millions dead in the past (and is still causing a Genocide in the Middle East at this very moment)

Those gullible people believe that by showing a humane attitude, by welcoming strangers with wide open arms that they can break down and defuse this spirit which has caused so much destruction, which has been the cause of so much bloodshed and suffering in the past.

It is at this point that 'mercy' turns into dangerous foolishness, that a humanistic gesture of 'good will' becomes deadly and destructive for it will destroy the future of our own people and that for all times to come!

Economists only see money in numbers.

They have no idea about the social implications of the current invasion of Europe.

Most western nations, in particular most nations in Europe are facing a massive decline in population (which is the direct result of the millions of abortions which have deprived the continent of its new blood). The current demographic decline is simply not sustainable.

It is obvious that something will have to change.

But instead of saving our unborn children we have welcomed in strangers that will never integrate into our societies, that will never except our culture and our way of life.

The new invaders of Europe seem 'Allah's gift' to the aging continent and they will surely re-populate the aging continent and prevent it from dying out altogether.

Politicians are mere spokespersons for financial and for economic interest groups. Their job is to sell us what they have been told (which may or may not be in their own personal interest).

They are here to sell voters an illusion and many of us have fallen for it.

But it is an illusion that will turn into a nightmare in due time to come.

The 'new Europeans' neither possess the skills which are needed in order to boost the ageing economies of their host nations nor are they motivated to work (or course there are always some exceptions).

Most have simply come for the free hand-outs. They know that in Europe money still grows on the trees (and guess who has sold them that illusion?).

But when the money will eventually run out (which is a foregone conclusion) this army of young male invaders will blame their host nations for their new misery and they will unleash a new wave of terror on our streets like we have never seen before. They will bring a massive curse and a gigantic destruction upon us.

It is not ISIS that we have to worry about!

Isis are but a few in numbers. Yes they can cause damage and kill a number of us but ISIS will never be able to create such chaos that it could lead to the collapse of a nation.

But if the millions who have arrived on our doorstep (and who will soon start to breed in large numbers) will get onto our streets with their knives, swords (and machineguns) in their hands, releasing their war cry "Allah Akbar", a cry that will one day echo through every building they pass then rivers of blood will be the result.

This spirit has caused so much bloodshed throughout this world in the past. It has delivered unrest wherever it has made its home and it has resulted in fierce oppression, in intolerance, in conflict and strife and we have so willingly invited it in by assuming that somehow we will be immune from it, that we will not be affected by it.

But we have failed to realize that we will be its next victim.

A spirit that thrives on conflict will not stop until it has created complete and total destruction.

Our 'good will' politicians, our humanistic 'leftist' journalists and our 'liberal' church leaders will have all run for safety when this spirit will start to unleash its final destruction. They will be the first to run, to flee and to hide. It is folks like us that will suffer the fate of their betrayal, suffer the consequences of their misguided ideals but it is our children and our grand-children who will have to suffer the most.

It is them who will see their future go up in flames. They will be the ones who will witness how everything which their parents (and grand-parents) had worked for will rise up in smoke.

It is their future that will be completely destroyed by the reckless and misguided decision of leaders who had betrayed them for the sake of popularity and for a few extra votes.

We owe it to them that we protect our nation; protect it from both the misguided and irresponsible decisions of reckless leaders and from anyone who is possessed by this deceitful 'humanist spirit' which in reality is only out to destroy and to inflict hardship and suffering on the future of our children.

Here are a few examples of some nations which have stood in the forefront of promoting this humanist ideology and which are starting to pay the price for their foolishness:

1. Sweden: for years Sweden had the most liberal and generous attitude towards asylum seekers out of any country in the world. Sweden accepted more refugees (per head of population) than any other country in Europe. As a result of it Sweden now has the 2nd. highest rate of rapes in the world. The nation has even lost control of its own territory (there are 55 'no-go' zones where Swedish police and other public services including all natives Swedes can no longer enter) Certain parts of major Swedish cities are now large Muslim ghettos where crime is completely out of control but where Police is no longer able to enter (unless in very large convoys). Sweden is also the first country in Europe to record a new trend. It is now no longer Swedish girls which raped by refugees and asylum seekers, now more and more Swedish man are now becoming a victim of rape.

2. France: France has accommodated large number of Arabs over the previous decades. Marseille with an Arab population of 40% has now become the most dangerous city in Europe. The city is now completely overpowered by violence and crime.
3. Germany: Since asylum seekers arrived in Germany crime has broken all records and the country is suffering from a rape epidemic. This story is the same in any country in Europe where asylum seekers and refugees have arrived in large numbers. Violence, rapes and crime have dramatically increased.

Shop lifting by asylum seekers is now so common in Germany that the government simply changed the law and stopped prosecuting shop lifters. It is reimbursing the shop owners directly for the theft instead (all with tax payers money). Frau Merkels logic: if you can't fight a crime just don't make it a crime.

How will she response to the current rape epidemic that has come over her country?

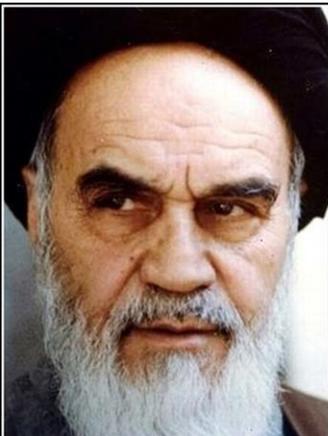

Will this be our future? And what will you do about that?

Europe is no longer Europe, it is Eurabia, a colony of Islam, where the Islamic invasion does not proceed only in a physical sense, but also in a mental and cultural sense.

When anyone studies a little or pays a little attention to the rules of Islamic government, Islamic politics, Islamic society and Islamic economy he will realize that Islam is a very political religion. Anyone who will say that religion is separate from politics is a fool; he does not know Islam or politics.
